Showing Proper Respect

“Submit yourselves for the Lord's sake to every authority instituted among men: whether to the king, as the supreme authority, or to governors who are sent by Him to punish those who do wrong and to commend those who do right. For it is God's will that by doing good you should silence the ignorant talk of foolish men. Live as free men, but do not use your freedom as a cover-up for evil; live as servants of God. Show proper respect to everyone: Love the brotherhood of believers, fear God, honor the king” - Simon Peter
1 Peter 2:13-17

Years ago, I was running an errand on the campus of the University of Louisiana at Monroe, and I parked my car in front of the Strauss Hall. I was only in the building for a few minutes, but when I came out, there it was on my windshield: I had received a parking ticket! There was nothing I could do about it now, so I decided to make the best of a bad situation. As I entered the campus police station, I announced with a smile on my face, “Ok, guys, you got me! I surrender! I’m guilty as sin, and I’m here to pay my debt to society.” The sergeant behind the counter laughed and said, “So we got ourselves a parking ticket, did we?” I struck up a conversation with him, inquired how his day was going, then finally got around to asking what I needed to do to pay my fine.

Just then a young student burst through the station door, interrupting our conversation. He had long, limp blonde hair, and a straggly beard, and was loudly complaining in a whiney annoyed voice: “I can’t believe you gave me another ticket, just because I parked at Strauss Hall. Who issues these tickets anyway, Barney Fife? This is ridiculous. I pay thousands of dollars for an education, and you expect me to walk three blocks to my class! I’m a student. That means you Keystone cops work for me. Don’t you know who my dad is? Just wait until I tell him about this. You’ll be sorry!”

The officer’s face hardened into one of those tight, professional, you-know-they’re-not-sincere strained smiles, and he said calmly, “Sir, I understand your frustration, but we don’t make the rules. That will be $15.” The steaming student threw his money down and stormed out, still loudly cursing and complaining. The policeman and I both stood for a moment in silence, as we watched him leave. Then the sergeant reached over the counter, picked up my ticket, and said softly, “Sir, I think we can help you with this.” He ceremonially tore it in two, and said, “Sir, YOU have a GOOD day.” I cannot promise you that being nice to a policeman will get your ticket torn up, but I can affirm the opposite: anyone who intentionally insults a person wearing a badge and a gun is a fool! And, needlessly antagonize a nurse with a needle, a judge with a gavel, or the person who cooks your food.
